Detailed Office Action

37 C.F.R. § 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 C.F.R. § 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 C.F.R. § 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection on 04 April, 2011. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 C.F.R. § 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 C.F.R. § 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 C.F.R. § 1.114.

37 C.F.R. § 1.98

The information disclosure statement filed 04 April, 2011, has been placed in the application file and the information referred to therein has been considered.

Reasons for Allowance

The following is an Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance: The claimed invention is directed toward nucleic acids encoding consensus HIV-1 group M Env sequences (CON-S). CON-S was obtained by aligning the consensus env sequences of group M subtypes (A-D, F-H, J, and K) from the 2003 Los Alamos sequence listing to obtain a parent sequence. The hypervariable regions (excluding V3) were generated through hand alignments of potential N-linked glycosylation sites and cysteine residues. The hypervariable loops tended to comprise a shorter range of lengths as compared to natural strains. The CON-S env gene was generated by converting amino acid sequences of CON-S to nucleotide sequences employing the codon usage of highly expressed human genes. HIV-1 gp140 Envs with deletion of the cleavage (C) site and fusion (F) domain were designated gp140ΔCF. The polypeptide encoded by the claimed invention induced robust neutralization responses against multiple group M subtypes (e.g., B and C). Although the generation of HIV-1 consensus and ancestral sequences has been disclosed elsewhere, considerable variation in the methods employed in designing these sequences exists. The prior art fails to disclose the method utilized in the instant application to arrive at the claimed sequences. Accordingly, the prior art neither teaches nor fairly suggests the claimed invention. The amended claims accurately define the applicants' invention and are of such scope that the specification provides an enabling disclosure. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the Issue Fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the Issue Fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
